Background

Address

Primary health care nurses consult with a broad diversity of patients. Nursing consultations provide an ideal opportunity and setting to encourage open discussion about sexual health care, specifically testing for sexually transmitted infections (STI), including HIV, in asymptomatic patients.

Primary health care nurses (PHCN) describe varying roles in sexual health practices, including consultation with patients after GP referral, organising specimen collection, distributing health information resources, sexual health education and undertaking sexual health screening. The competency standards in sexual health nursing for primary health care nurses support PHCNs practice in sexual health care; as a professional development resource to increase scope of practice; and for use as an advocacy tool.

To further support primary health care nurses undertaking a greater role in sexual health care, clinical placements in publicly funded sexual health service (PFSHS) are being made available to PHCNs to enhance their knowledge and skills in sexual health care. Clinical placements will also enhance relationships between PHCNs in GP practices and their local Publicly Funded Sexual Health Service (PFSHS).

Purpose of Clinical Placement

The clinical placement offers the opportunity for a PHCN to observe and undertake sexual health history taking and assessment.

The aim of the clinical placement is to:

- enhance the skills and knowledge of the PHCN in HIV and STI testing and contact tracing;
- increase awareness of the PHCN of appropriate and up-to-date STI management;
- develop links and partnerships between the PHCN and PFSHS.

The length of the clinical placement will need to be negotiated between the sexual health service and PHCN.

Learning goals for the session should be developed before the placement takes place and be guided by the PHCN. Learning goals should be linked to the Sexual Health Competency Standards for Primary Health Care Nurses 2013 – see Appendix 2.

The following is an example of a learning goal linked to Sexual Health Competency Standards for Primary Health Care Nurses 2013.

- Gaining Consent of the Patient
- Reflective Practice and Debrief
- Giving Feedback
